CV

I am a theatre professional with considerable experience of theatre production in a variety of contexts; from Birmingham Rep., one of the largest producing houses in Europe, to Cardboard Citizens performing in Hostels for the homeless. My specialism is Design for New Writing. I have designed the first productions of many new now published plays, and observed at close hand the working methods of a wide variety of UK, European, and American directors and choreographers. Alongside this I have taught both FE and HE students in London since 1980.
